

Nature Passport Booklet

Activate your community

For further information on developing your customised Nature passport booklet, contact us today or visit www.natureplaywa.org.au/nature-passports

Let's collaborate on a Nature Passport booklet to activate outdoor spaces and make nature play a part of every day.

Our Nature Passport booklets are customised for local governments and community groups to provide nature play activities for kids and families to do at nature playgrounds, green open spaces, trails, wetlands and other nature-rich locations.

We work with you to select the locations and activities, including a checklist of "15 Things to Do" within your Local Government Area. The booklets also contain an Acknowledgement of Country¹, an activity map, stickers and a nature safari section!

"The City of Albany now has its own Nature Passport to encourage visitation at our parks and provide new and exciting experiences. Thanks Nature Play for making this possible, they have been extremely popular." - City of Albany, Manager City Reserves

"The passports were really well received by families. We handed them out mostly during school holidays so there were lots of school kids as well as little ones using them. Parents always seem to be looking for activity ideas too so they loved them."
- City of Gosnells, Children's Activity Officer

"[The Nature Passports are] a compact resource that is being utilised by our community. Easy to read, follow and participate"
- City of Joondalup, Community Liaison Officer

The booklets are a meaningful promotional tool and resource for families that can be distributed as part of school holiday programs, events, through your visitor centre, museums, community hubs and libraries.
